

NATIONAL TRUCK PROTECTION CELEBRATES TWENTY-FIVE YEARS PROVIDING WARRANTY PROTECTION TO THE TRUCKING INDUSTRY

Carlstadt, NJ – May 11, 2009 – NTP Inc., North America's leading independent provider of warranty and service contracts to the trucking industry, is proudly marking a milestone this month as the company celebrates twenty-five years providing warranties to the used truck market.

"This milestone anniversary is a testament to the trust we have earned from our customers for more than a quarter of a century and to the quality of the service we provide the industry," said Robert S. Amico, president of NTP. "In the independent warranty business, you can survive only by consistently providing excellent service and by serving the industry with honesty and integrity. We have excelled in doing just that and we are committed to continuing to serve the industry with our standards for excellence for the next twenty-five years and beyond."

NTP credits its long term success to associating itself with the highest quality people and building deep relationships with OEMs, dealers and owners of used trucks.

"For so many of our customers, their trucks are the lifeblood of their business," Amico continued. "We develop deeply embedded relationships with our customers because we understand their business and we make getting them back on the road when repairs are needed a company priority"

NTP service contract holders are confident knowing they have the best breakdown protection and support that will allow them to resolve issues related to their used trucks quickly and efficiently and without significant interruption to their business.

At present, NTP continues to maintain a strong leadership position in the independent used truck warranty industry, continuously exploring additional opportunities to evolve its service standards and further deepen its relationships with manufacturers, dealers and used truck owners.
