American Truck Protection Solidifies Its Position as the Fastest Growing and Most Broadly Accepted Provider of Extended Service Contracts

Company surpasses 900 Used Truck Dealers enrolled nationwide

CRANFORD, N.J.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--American Truck Protection (ATP), a subsidiary of truck warranty leader National Truck Protection (NTP), today announced it now has enrolled over 900 registered authorized resellers of its market leading warranty program. According to Robert S. Amico, President of NTP, "ATP was created to bring the greatest value to the used truck marketplace." Amico continued, "We are pleased with the widespread acceptance of our offering to date, and we anticipate even greater adoption as the economy improves. The ATP product line is clearly a winner, and it complements our comprehensive NTP offering very well."

ATP was launched in 2009 to fill an underserved segment of independent used truck dealer marketplace. ATP provides protection for Class 3-8 vehicles through full powertrain coverage. ATP warranties are available in a variety of plans from twelve month/100,000 miles through 24 month/200,000 miles. The ATP program features a host of benefits, including a very simple and easy inspection process, 24/7/365 claims and breakdown assistance, access to more than 3,000+ repair facilities nationwide, and much more. The company has achieved service excellence and has earned an "A" Better Business Bureau rating.

"With ATP, the owner/operator is able to purchase affordable catastrophic breakdown coverage that gets them back on the road up and running as quickly as possible. Given our success to date, we will continue to partner with our valued customers to seek even more creative and innovative ways to enhance this program to meet their ever evolving needs," said Amico.
